The Home...

If you're looking for a three bedroom freehold home in a convenient, central location close to Haywards Heath town centre, good schools and the Princess Royal Hospital then look no further than this greatly improved end-terrace home on St Edmunds Road.

The home has been the subject of transformative renovation in recent years including a new heating system, rewire, new front door, new windows, new kitchen, bathroom and redecoration making it the perfect first or second time purchase or downsize.

The sitting/dining room extends across the entire rear of the house with large sliding doors that open on to the garden. A beautiful feature fireplace provides a lovely focal point, adding character to the room particularly against the wide plank wooden floor which floors into the hall and kitchen. There is plenty of space for a large sofa and round dining table and the room is filled with morning sunshine.

The kitchen has opulent stone worktops and is fitted with timeless shaker-style cabinetry, stylish tiled splashback and a deep butler sink.

On the first floor you have two double bedrooms and a very handy third bedroom which makes an ideal nursery, dressing room or study for those who work from home.

The home has gas fired central heating, is fully double glazed and offers an ultrafast broadband connection for those who love to stream or work from home.

There is also a large loft space that provides excellent storage but also offers conversion potential. Some neighbouring homes have converted the lofts and gained a master bedroom with ensuite. Any work is of course subject to necessary consents.

Offered for sale chain free, a swift move is possible.

Step Outside...

The rear garden is level with patio and lawn. There is gated access that leads out to the rear area where you'll find the garage en-block. There is a front garden area which could be turned into parking, STPP.
